

Erf number	Date built	Type of building
	mid-18th C; Georgianised c1833; Victorianised 1893	Residential
Style	Architectural Period	Present NHRA protection
High Victorian	Cape Dutch	Previous National monument (1991)
Street Address	Alterations	Use
Coetzenburg Stellenbosch	See description and history	Sport and Recreation Club
Date of Survey		Zoning
November 2009
Name of the building	General Evaluation	Suggested Grading
Coetzenburg Homestead (Jannie Marais House)	Outstanding	IIIA
Description	History	Social History

Date of photograph(s): November 2012,

"H-shaped 5-bay homestead with clipped gables and corrugated iron roof with cast iron cresting, fretwork barge boards and decorative eaves brackets. The end gables have round vents, with a masonry stair to the rear gable. Front facade woodwork to the main house and first addition on the left, with its slightly lower roof, is Georgian: 9x9 sashes with internal shutters and a 4x4 door with sunrise fanlight. The facade has an elaborate timber verandah with fine columns and brackets, frieze and balustrade, with a double storey portion with two decorated gablets over the front gable. The addition a ...

"The farm was granted in 1693 to Dirk Coetzee, the first deacon of the Stellenbosch Dutch Reformed Church, who had been living there since 1682. Paul Hartog owned it from 1747-1789, and probably built the present homestead. In 1833 it was transferred to PJ Marais, and the present facade woodwork dates from this time. The house was Victorianised in 1893 by the well-known architect Anthony de Witt. It was transferred to his sons, FRL and JH (Jannie) Marais, in 1903. The latter's bequest of 100 000 pounds made possible the founding of the University of Stellenbosch. (F&C, M&vH)"

Significance in terms of NHRA

	Very significant	Significant	Some significance	No significance	Not assessed
Historical		x
Rarity		x
Aesthetical		x
Technological					x
Cultural					x
Social History			x
Slave History					x