SITE DESCRIPTION

Cluster of structures including homestead, a number of barns, with wolvehok up the mountain slope and some ruins of structures to the south of homestead.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This is a significant site from many heritage perspectives. The recently sensitively renovated early modest homestead is very well sited and retains much historic fabric and character derived therefrom. There are a number of other extant historic structures and ruins in the vicinity. Newer farm buildings have been so sited as to detract minimally from the surviving heritage resources. Moreover, the scenic and landscape setting is superb with many trees of stature and well vegetated surrounds. The site has aesthetic, architectural, scenic and landscape significance
